

"Flânerie aural". Walking looking for silences.
Elia Torrecilla, 2018

Radio work based on the article "Radio Humor: El que no oía" (Ondas magazine nº 184, 1928) by Ramón Gómez de la Serna, which deals with a radio-listener that he didn't hear, and was dedicated to search for silences from the cities (Prague, Rome, Carabanchel...) moving on the dial of his radio. He said "Feeding me with silence ... Making a tunnel trip". In the end, a doctor took away his deafness and began to hear all the stations on the radio at the same time. We have interpreted this work as a radio-performance of a supposed radio-flâneur that walks through the silence of different cities, as if he were activating each radio station with his steps... This work is the result of the Project I+D ref. HAR2014-58869-P, funded by Spanish Ministry of Economy and Competitiveness.
